CQ CAPITAL PARTNERS ENTERS ATLANTA DEVELOPMENT SCENE WITH CAMP CREEK VILLAGE

CQ Capital Partners is underway with its first development, a mixed-use project in South Fulton County. Camp Creek Village is a 40-acre development located on the southeast corner of Camp Creek Parkway and Butner Road in South Fulton. The project promises to mix sustainable design with high-end luxury product: 25 single-family homes, 110 Mediterranean-style townhomes, 44 senior independent living condos and 30,000 square feet of retail shops.

CQ Capital Partners is a new developer on the Atlanta development scene, but it starts with a wealth of experience: The partners, Barkat Charania (BC), Rahim Charania and Keith Quarles, bring more than 40 years of real estate experience to this new venture.
